

BRINGING HEALTH TO HEALTHCARE FACILITIES

THE NEED

In the remote rural communities of the developing world where World Vision works, more than half of the health clinics do not have running water or basic hand washing facilities. Additionally, there are not enough community health workers (CHWs) to cover communities.

Can you imagine a mother delivering a baby without clean water? Doctors and nurses trying to limit infection? Parents losing a child to a totally preventable illness because they don't have basic health information and treatment?

Together, we can change this.

WHAT WE'RE DOING

Bringing clean water, hand-washing stations, toilets, and showers

Training and equipping more community health workers for last-mile delivery

Additional training for existing health clinic personnel

Critical medical equipment and supplies

Education and mobilization of faith leaders to reinforce good health messages

LEADING IN HEALTH

In 2019, World Vision joined a global effort to upgrade health facilities and by 2023 had upgraded more 2,000 healthcare facilities: more than any other NGO.

With your help, we will reach an additional 3,000 health facilities serving an estimated 30 million people.

NEW COMMITMENT

Our plan calls for bringing WASH to healthcare facilities plus life-saving health education, support, and treatment through added CHWs. Priority countries for FY24 include Ghana, Malawi, Tanzania, and Uganda, among others.

SEE YOUR IMPACT

Your investment of $125,000 will bring clean water and sanitation to a rural health clinic, plus train and equip more community health workers!

You will receive a report (typically within 12 months) on a specific health clinic that your gift has helped to fund—including photos, GPS coordinates, and the number of people served.
